3. Voting results

We make voting decisions in accordance with our Guidelines on Exercising Voting Rights and Standards for Exercising Voting Rights on Japanese Stocks, which set forth the criteria behind our voting decisions and other such standards. Although these guidelines and standards are clearly defined and implemented, we do not apply them mechanically or uniformly. Instead, we make voting decisions after engaging with each investee company and gaining an appropriate understanding of its circumstances, including its sustainability and effective use of capital.

We announced revisions to our Standards for Exercising Voting Rights on Japanese Stocks in February 2026 and applied them starting with the April 2026 general shareholders' meetings. See below for an outline of the revisions made.

Revisions to Amova Asset Management's Standards for Exercising Voting Rights on Japanese Stocks

In April–June 2026, we exercised voting rights at the general shareholders' meetings of 1,308 of the Japanese companies in which we invest, voting on a total of 13,321 proposals (13,047 company-generated proposals and 274 shareholder proposals).

(1) Company-generated proposals

We voted against 15.8% of company-generated proposals during the period, an increase from the previous year. The change reflected a higher number of votes opposing director elections after we raised our numerical standards on ROE and female directors.

Proposals on company bodies

- We voted against elections of directors in cases such as those listed below:

・if the company's business performance (ROE) does not meet our standards;
・if the composition of the company's board of directors (ratio of independent, outside directors) does not meet our standards;
・if the company does not meet our standards on female directors;
・if the company does not meet our standards on cross-shareholding;
・if the company's shareholder returns do not meet our standards; and
・if the company's outside directors do not meet our independence standards.

Separately, campaigns were launched recommending votes against the re-election of directors at three banks and three trading companies, citing concerns over board oversight of climate-related risks and other matters. We have long recognized climate change as an important ESG issue. After carefully reviewing the issues raised by shareholders and the companies' responses, and in consultation with our Global Sustainable Investment Team, we concluded that opposing the re-election of directors was not warranted.

- We voted against proposals to elect corporate auditors mainly in cases where candidates did not meet our independence standards.

Proposals on executive remuneration

- For executive remuneration, we voted against proposals for stock or stock option compensation if they failed to meet our standards regarding dilution, transfer restrictions, exercise periods and eligible recipients.

- We voted in opposition to the payment of retirement benefits except in cases of payments associated with the termination of a plan.

Proposals on capital policy

- We voted against proposals for the appropriation of surpluses for companies that did not meet our shareholder return standards or were yet to finalize their financial statements.

- For restructuring-related proposals, we voted against those we deemed to include terms such as merger or exchange ratios that did not adequately protect shareholder interests.

- Regarding proposals to introduce, renew or abolish anti-takeover measures, we voted against all advance-warning-type measures. However, following detailed, case-by-case reviews, we also voted in favor of some measures designed to be triggered in emergencies.

- In other capital policy matters, we voted against proposals we deemed to include terms such as exchange ratios that did not adequately protect shareholder interests.

Proposals on articles of incorporation

- We voted against changes intended to set a company's maximum number of directors as the number of directors at the company, changes that would enable all types of business activities, and changes stipulating that the appropriation of surpluses is to be decided solely by board of directors resolutions, among others.

Other proposals

- We voted against granting approval for financial statements for which auditors had issued a disclaimer of opinion.

(2) Shareholder proposals

We made voting decisions on shareholder proposals in view of the proposal's content and efforts made by the company subject to the proposal, and voted in favor of proposals we judged to have the potential to enhance medium- to long-term shareholder value.

4. Controls over conflicts of interest in proxy voting

We control conflicts of interest in stewardship activities, including proxy voting, under our company-wide Conflict of Interest Control Policy, which classifies such conflicts as involving the exercise of influence. To prevent companies and other related parties from exerting an influence and to ensure appropriate conduct, we have established rational decision-making standards and conduct these activities under the supervision of our Stewardship and Proxy Voting Committee. We also ensure that our activities are monitored and overseen by our Stewardship and Voting Rights Policy Oversight Committee, the majority of whose members are from outside our company.

Proxy voting decisions at the general shareholders' meetings of our parent company, for which particularly stringent conflict-of-interest controls are required from an external perspective, are discussed in advance by the Stewardship and Voting Rights Policy Oversight Committee, which has an external-member majority. Voting decisions are then made after the committee has provided conflict-of-interest monitoring and oversight.

We voted in favor of all proposals at the annual general shareholders' meeting of our parent company, Sumitomo Mitsui Trust Group. Although the value of the company's cross-shareholdings exceeds 20% of its net assets, we confirmed that it has established a plan to reduce such holdings, that it aims to bring their market value to below 20% of net assets by the end of March 2029 (including deemed shareholdings), and that it has disclosed progress in making the reductions. We therefore supported the proposals, which was in line with our voting decisions for other companies that had taken comparable action.

Reference information:

・Standards on cross-shareholdings

We vote against proposals if the balance of cross-shareholdings amounts to 20% or more of net assets. However, we also take into consideration targets to cut holdings below 20% and disclosures of sales of holdings before the general shareholders' meeting.

5. Voting decisions on individual proposals

Results are provided on page 5 onward.

We have provided detailed explanations of the reasons for our decisions on proposals for the below companies.

Air Water (4088 JP), Aska Pharmaceutical Holdings (4886 JP), Bunka Shutter (5930 JP), Nidec (6594 JP) and Wacom (6727 JP).
